NOW READY

GLIMPSES OF MASONIC HISTORY

By the Rt. Rev. C. W. Leadbeater, 33° P.M., P.Z., P.M. W.S.,

Administrator-General of Co-Masonry in Australia, F.R.A.S

Cloth and Gold. Pp. 380. With 12 plates and a frontispiece of the author in Masonic dress. Price Rs. 7.

This is a most fascinating book, in reality a second volume of that which its learned author has just published, The Hidden Life in Freemasonry. In that last-mentioned work the inner meaning and effect of the intricate and beautiful ceremonies of Freemasonry is for the first time explained to the world; in this new volume the origins of this great secret Brotherhood are laid before us, and its course is traced down the stream of history from Atlantis to the present day.

But is is very far from being only history, a mere catalogue of facts and dates. As the long life-story of this mighty organization is unfolded before us, a vast store of most interesting information is incidentally given, and we catch glimpses of times and customs so remote from our own that they seem like life in some other planet. Yet through it all runs the golden thread of the fatherly care and blessing of the Great White Brotherhood of the Himalayan Adepts, who never desert or forget the world They love, even in its darkest times. The book is truly a supplement to The Hidden Life in Freemasonry, and no Mason's library is complete without both of them.

Nor is it to Masons alone that these truly remarkable works appeal; every member of the Theosophical Society, every student of inner side of life will find here matter of entrancing interest and of the greatest value. Send for the two volumes at once, and do not miss this unique opportunity.

PRODUCTION IN INDIA

A comparative study in national productivity

BY

RAJANI KANTA DAS, M.A., M.SC., Ph.D.

Director of Rural Survey, Visva-bharati; Former Lecturer in Economics, New York University; Late Special Lecturer on Labor and Population, College of the City of New York; One-time Lecturer in Economics, North-Western University, Chicago; Sometime Special Agent, Department of Labor, United States Government.

The main object of this study is to help in building up the objective background for national thinking on the question of the wealth and welfare of the people. With a very brief description of the nature of production and prosperity, the book discusses historically and statistically the chief resources of the country and the various industries instituted for their utilisation and compares them with those of other advanced countries. The principal industrial products of India, in aggregate and per capita, are also discussed and compared with a view to determining the economic condition of the people, both absolute and relative. In conclusion, the present status of national productivity is noted and the fundamental cause of insufficient production indicated.
